

Zenab Okolo | GA

Zenab Okolo grew up in the Bay Area and Central Valley of Northern California. She earned her B.S. in Economics from San Jose State University and is currently a first-year graduate student in the Master of Interdisciplinary Studies in Philosophy, Politics, and Economics program. As an undergraduate, Zenab spent six months as an exchange student in London and later conducted research on the European migrant crisis in Sweden. She plans to conduct more research specializing in the fields of international and development economics with a special focus in Latin America and the Caribbean. Zenab believes every student should be afforded the opportunity to study abroad during their collegiate career as it expands the mind to a whole new set of views and perspectives.

Suha Ibrahim | GA

Born and raised in Georgia, Suha Ibrahim graduated from Georgia State University with a B.A. in Political Science and is a current law student at the Georgia State College of Law. She received the Global Scholars Distinction which recognizes a student's development of global competence, or "the skills, knowledge, and awareness that enhance the ability to function in a global environment." Ibrahim speaks four languages and has visited fourteen different countries, including having lived in India for two years. She worked in immigration law with a focus in cases of refugees. Ibrahim's favorite city is Paris, France but her favorite country is Morocco. Suha is also a fitness instructor and enjoys bringing people together in a physically active environment. International studies to Suha is more than just traveling and immersing in a new location, it is about enhancing the lens in which you look at the world and the depth to which you can understand people. To Suha, we are all a part of a landscape in which we are of best service to one another if we understand the stories that make us.

Anna Addison

Peer
Advisor

Hi! My name is Anna Addison. I am a sophomore at Georgia State University studying Psychology with a pre-medical concentration. My goal is to become a child and adolescent psychiatrist in the future. Some fun facts about me are that I am Ghanaian-American and love reading, singing, and learning languages.

Aiyanna Broughton

Peer
Advisor

Born and raised in Atlanta, Georgia, Aiyanna Broughton is a undergraduate student majoring in Psychology and Game Design at Georgia State University. Aiyanna has experienced a small range of abroad experience from her Army veteran father, as well as a family gathering in Bermuda. She is also devoted to evolving her evergrowing desire to learn about the world and its inhabitants. Aiyanna believes in the growth of humanity in any amounted steps, for a flourishing planet and a brighter future worldwide.

Fourera Assouma

Peer
Advisor

My name is Fourera Assouma Sanda. I am currently a senior at Georgia State University majoring in marketing. I'm a member of American marketing association, African student association, and Sky women in marketing. I enjoy hobbies such as writing for my blog, watching movies, and exercising. I am also very enthusiastic about discussing politics and expanding my worldview. I have a passion for writing and hope to become a copywriter in the future. I've study abroad in Morocco and hope to continue my adventures to all corners of the earth.

Adetayo Adesina

Peer
Advisor

Hello! My name is Adetayo (ah-di-ty-yo), and I am a senior at the School of Public Health. I recently completed my study abroad trip to Ghana in Summer 2024 where I did field research on women's health, HIV/AIDs, and water sanitation. Being my first international trip, it was an absolutely life-changing experience@ I would love to help anyone who is looking to expand their academic experience beyond the traditional classroom experience and explore how the world can fuel their ideas!