Academic Exchange Program: Fall, Spring, Academic Year

The Program
At the Université Toulouse Jean Jaurès, students have the opportunity to experience French culture and study French language, history, and civilization while taking classes at the undergraduate and graduate levels in American and British literature, history, and culture. Students with advanced language competencies may elect to take courses conducted in French in other disciplines. For videos, links, and other information about the university, see http://www.univ-tlse2.fr/home/. The Université Toulouse Jean Jaurès is located in Toulouse, the third largest city in France. The university is a leading institution dedicated to multidisciplinary research and is, like GSU, committed to international programs and exchanges. Trains connect students with Paris, other parts of France and Europe. The website for the international students association Eima offers additional details about campus life: http://w3.eima.univ-tlse2.fr.

Eligibility
The program is open to undergraduate and graduate students who are in good standing and meet all academic requirements of the GSU College of Arts & Sciences and the program. The minimum requirements are a 2.5 GPA, 6-12 hours of French and a recommendation from someone in the student’s major. Graduate students must have a 3.0 GPA, complete one year of study at GSU, and demonstrate sufficient language skills. Enrollment is limited, so applicants are encouraged to apply early. Participation is contingent upon acceptance by the Program Director.
